Where to find Art & Music in Norwich booklets

Music in Norwich is produced by Culture Shift Norwich as a companion to Art in Norwich & Norfolk, a roundup of visual art exhibitions in Norwich and Norfolk.

You can find a downloadable pdf of Art in Norwich on www.artinnorwich.org.uk or printed copies around the city and county. The Spring/Summer edition of Art & Culture in Norwich & Norfolk covers March to September.

MUSIC & ART IN NORWICH & NORFOLK BY POST

The long term impact of Covid means picking up printed material is harder than it used to be – venues have changed and we are just going out less – so making active choices is more important.

To make it easier, you can now order both booklets by post – visit the website, pay the postage and get your very own copy conveniently delivered to your door.

Go to www.artinnorwich.org.uk/AiNbypost or email info@theshiftnorwich.org.uk find out how to get your copy for the price of a stamp.

ARTS ROUNDUP

What's on in Norwich & Norfolk info leaflet distribution service

One of the key places to pick up arts and events information is the Arts Roundup racks that are found all over the city, out in the county and sometimes across the border Suffolk!

In July 2022 the service was taken over from its previous operators by Andrew Stitt and Maja Shreeve – who have run the service in the past backed up by Marion Catlin of Culture Shift who publishes the booklets Art & Music in Norwich and Norfolk. This publication can be picked up in racks around the county

Many arts and events organisations depend on the network of racks to get their information to audiences around the county and they offer brilliant value for money.

So if you have any printed leaflets or flyers to distribute promoting the arts, culture or general events, please email artsroundup@gmail.com or visit the website for the latest details and updates. And where to find an Arts Roundup Information rack near you!

About Music in Norwich and Norfolk

This booklet is the result of a collaboration between a number of organisations who promote performance and classical, jazz and world music. It was started in 2003 by the Music in Norwich group as a way to cross-market and build audiences for classical music, and to co-programme and avoid clashes where possible. The aim is to gather music listings in one place so that they are easy to find and to offer an overview of performances throughout the year.

The Music in Norwich group is a self-supporting partnership of organisations that are active and promoting music in Norwich & the surrounding county of Norfolk and who meet twice a year.

We hope you will keep this booklet safe as it covers more than six months' programming. Because of space limitations and lots going on, concert details are brief but you can find out more from individual organisations' websites – see the back of the booklet for venue and contact details. These days most groups are using Ticketsource for online bookings.

Please also visit www.musicinnorwich.org.uk where you can download a pdf of this programme and find out more about Music in Norwich partners. Sign up to the blog for music updates and extra events to your inbox. The next edition is due out in early September 2024 so look out on the Music in Norwich website for updates. Printed copies are also available by post. www.musicinnorwich.org.uk

Important: All information is subject to change – please check with individual organisations or venues before travelling.

UEA Community Choir led by Stuart Dunlop is friendly and informal see <https://bit.ly/2WKf5xi>

Invidia Voices Rock and Soul Choir are friendly and inclusive and have practice sessions in five places on several days a week www.invidiavoices.co.uk

Music in Norwich is designed, edited and published by Marion de Mello Catlin, Culture Shift Norwich www.theshiftnorwich.org.uk.

Errors and omissions excepted, info is checked as well as possible before printing but cannot be guaranteed. There will be a new edition in September 2024.

If you require copies to display or would like to include content in future editions please email info@theshiftnorwich.org.uk

Welcome to the latest edition of Music in Norwich and Norfolk.

I am amazed to realise that it is over 20 years since I started the publication as a way of music organisations working together to co-promote and to avoid clashes of programming and dates. It was originally funded by the Arts Council for two years but quickly proved popular and continued, funded by the groups paying for the pages they occupy. From each page price, a proportion goes towards the 'common' pages, the calendar, cover etc and the more money in the pot, the more are printed. Organisations also help with distribution and so it is a truly collaborative publication, though I admit I have to do a lot of rounding up to get the info on pages and off to print – but it works!

Distribution is a bit harder than it used to be, so there is now a Music in Norwich by Post facility. For the price of a stamp and an envelope you can order a copy for yourself or extra copies for few friends. If you can help with distribution in your local area please get in touch as it really helps to have a good spread of distributors across the county.

St Peter Mancroft Church is a good central place to pick up copies of Music in Norwich & Norfolk as is The Assembly House. Norwich Cathedral serves the north of the city. Arts Roundup racks around the city and county are also vitally important to arts info distribution. The Forum rack always has stocks and is very convenient for many people.

If you can accommodate a rack or if you have printed materials to get out to audiences across Norfolk, please get in touch at www.whatsonnorfolk.co.uk.

This publication covers venues across Norfolk and includes the King's Lynn Festival in the west and Great Yarmouth in the east. Diss Corn Hall in South Norfolk has a wide range of concerts, classical, folk, jazz and world music. In north Norfolk, the Yorke Trust has a series of concerts in South Creake to support young musicians. 2024 is their 40th anniversary and a fund-raising concert will celebrate the 80th birthday of their chairman, Rodney Slatford. The North Norfolk Music Festival also brings fantastic musicians to Norfolk in August.

London Concertante brings three of their popular Candlelight Concerts to Norfolk this summer in the special atmosphere of Norwich Cathedral and King's Lynn Corn Exchange.

The organ at Norwich Cathedral is back in action so they are hosting a special festival to celebrate, bringing well-known guest organists to Norwich. Norwich Phil has relocated some of its concerts to the Events Centre at Norfolk Showground. And the Norfolk & Norwich Festival has many concerts and other events from 10–23 May this year – get hold of a pink programme or check their website www.nnfestival.org.uk There is a wider range of venues this season as The Halls will close for restoration. St Peter Mancroft and Norwich Cathedral will be taking many of the regular bookings while it is closed. Of course, there are many more concerts and recitals – and we can't highlight them all so enjoy exploring the booklet and don't forget to sign up to the blog and Twitter/Facebook accounts for updates. #musicinnorwich #musicinnorfolk

People behind the scenes...

*Sally Wortley,

of St Thomas*

SALLY WORTLEY

Sally Wortley has been a stalwart of the Norwich music scene for many years. Over a teaching career spanning nearly 50 years, Sally has nurtured a large number of young musicians, organising many types of performing opportunities for all ages. An invitation to play in the inaugural Academy of St Thomas concert in 1973 while she was a member of the Norfolk County Youth Orchestra has led to a love of orchestral music and the huge musical rewards of administering the AST.

Her knowledge of players and repertoire is second to none and she is master of the Music in Norwich and Norfolk anti-clash calendar which helps the sector by enabling organisers and programmers to check dates and venues before booking their own concerts. With a limited pool of musicians in the county, this is a really important function which Sally carries out with sensitivity and diligence. She has been an integral and active member of the Music in Norwich forum since its inception in 2003.

Sally is herself an accomplished cellist and plays with the AST who have an annual programme which includes a summer concert at Salle church near Reepham, with a chance to picnic and at St Peter Mancroft Church in Norwich city centre. Along with her husband Jonathan, Sally helps administer the Michael Badminton Young Musicians Trust for young string players in Norfolk which was established in 1998 by the late Michael Badminton, a GP and violist who loved music and set up the trust to help young musicians.

The Trust supports young string players in Norfolk with tuition costs, loans of instruments and assistance to attend courses in the UK and abroad. It also promotes the annual Norfolk Young Musician Competition.

You can find full details of the Trust on the Academy of St Thomas website www.academyofstthomas.com/mbtrust

East Point Pavilion, Lowestoft

East Point Pavilion is Lowestoft's most vibrant and inviting new venue, opened in June 2022 and run by the team behind First Light Festival. With a prominent seafront location and views of the sea, it is the perfect place to hangout, socialise and meet friends while sampling its great range of street food and music. Even better, the Pavilion is a fully accessible building with a newly installed Changing Places toilet which offers larger facilities with a changing bench and a hoist, designed to support people with disabilities who need assistance. Norwich Baroque performs music of the 17th and 18th centuries on period instruments, often pairing international favourites like Bach, Handel, and Vivaldi with lesser-known creative voices from the past – especially those with a local connection, like John Playford.

In addition to regular performances with the Norwich Cathedral Choirs around Christmas and Easter, they run a series of concerts in more intimate historic spaces around Norwich, curating programmes that help to bring the city's incredibly rich history to life.

*Catrina Nixon,

manager for The Mozart Orchestra*

CATRINA NIXON

As a horn player and Vice Chair of the Norwich Philharmonic Society, Catrina Nixon has been a prominent figure in the Norwich music scene for almost 20 years and a long-standing member of the Music in Norwich group. As Chair of the Society's Orchestra Sub Committee she manages the Norwich Philharmonic Orchestra and has been responsible for a number of their most ambitious projects. For example, to celebrate the Phil's 175th Anniversary in 2016, she coordinated a spectacular performance of Mahler's epic 8th Symphony at the Norfolk Showground Arena, with 450 performers and an audience of almost 2,000, as part of the 2016 Norfolk & Norwich Festival.

Other major projects have included Mahler's Resurrection Symphony at the Halls in 2010, a Family Concert at the Showground in 2022, and, more recently, the introduction of sell-out Children's Concerts at the Kings Centre in Norwich. She also led a bid to commission a major new work on the Norwich Strangers from the young British composer Dani Howard, but sadly the project was turned down by the Arts Council. She has also helped to bring about several improvements at the Halls, including stage extensions for large scale concerts, new music stands and chairs for performers and acoustic screens to protect musicians' hearing.

She is responsible for concert management and publicity for The Mozart Orchestra, who give four summer concerts a year. A music graduate, Catrina spent several years as Marketing Manager for the Bournemouth Orchestras and later worked with the BBC Concert Orchestra and BBC Big Band as Marketing Manager Live Music at BBC Radio 2. In 2012-13 she coordinated Familiar Fields, the Benjamin Britten Centenary celebrations in Norfolk and Suffolk and undertook the marketing and PR for a the international youth orchestra, Triorca. She has recently retired from a long career in heritage, tourism and the arts as a chief executive, marketer and professional consultant.

COLLINS AT MANCROFT : A CELEBRATION WEEKEND

The Collins organ, one of two organs at the church, was built by Peter Collins in 1984 and is situated at the west end.

The 28/29th June will be a weekend celebration of this treasured instrument which is now 40 years old.

The organ is a mechanical-action instrument voiced and constructed in accordance with eighteenth century organ practice and tradition. It is visually beautiful as well as acoustically stunning with lime wood carved screens by Sigfried Pietszsch.

The words Soli Deo Gloria (to God alone be the glory) are carved into the screen above the echo organ.

The organ is used for accompaniment and the playing of organ voluntaries on Sundays, and for concerts and recitals at various times during the year.

28 June 2024, 7.30pm: A gala concert evening, with a talk by Julian Haggett followed by an organ recital. Drinks and nibbles provided. Free of charge.

Sing Your Heart Out (SYHO)

Starting in 2004 SYHO has been providing free singing workshops for 20 years.

It is now a charity that began as a mental health project, building on the well-researched benefits of singing in harmony. Since then, it has grown and developed and now there are workshops in five venues across Norfolk, with a repertoire of popular and easy songs, for the general benefit of a wide range of people of all ages. Anyone can simply turn up and sing. There are no performances, so there is no pressure to rehearse, or commit to coming regularly (though many do), or to make a fool of yourself in public (if you don't want to!) You don't need to read music, and it doesn't matter if you don't think you can sing!

When I first discovered 'Sing Your Heart Out' I was a volunteer for Norwich MIND and was immediately struck by the positive effect of singing on everyone's mood, including those struggling with their mental health. I really appreciated SYHO's inclusive approach as well as the lovely, harmonious singing.
Jenny Ford, Secretary

Sessions are led gently and skilfully by professional voice tutors who quickly enable a mixed and varied group to make a wonderful sound.

It is well-known that singing can help mental and physical health and promote wellbeing but above all, it is uplifting and great fun – as invigorating as a session in the gym!

Sessions are always free, and a warm welcome is guaranteed – everyone understands how hard it can be to do something new and when you don't know anyone.

So come to a workshop and sing your heart out!

Two Fundraising Anniversary Concerts

To celebrate its first 40 years in July and the founding chairman's 80th birthday, the Yorke Trust is promoting two fundraising concerts to raise money towards refurbishments of its premises, the Old Norwich Arms and the Old Chapel in South Creake, Norfolk.

Initially funded by a generous grant from the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation, the Trust's Mini-Bass Project launched an innovative programme to teach children the double bass. Many who were pioneers in the scheme now hold prestigious positions in orchestras and ensembles, standards of playing having since risen exponentially largely due to the work of Caroline Emery at the Yehudi Menuhin School and the Royal College of Music.

A legacy from the Chairman's mother Vida Slatford enabled Trustees to establish a permanent home for use as a centre for music education. Choral and instrumental courses followed with opera projects enabling hundreds of students and young professionals to explore areas of music new to them, at an international level. For twelve years the Trust ran a successful Saturday morning arts school. Two operas were commissioned involving local children and primary school exchanges took place between Wells-next-the-Sea and a new school in London's East End. Times have changed and large-scale ambitious projects have become impractical. Today the Trust's Young Musicians' Benefit Concert Series offers invaluable platform opportunities to emerging young artists and facilities are often let for instrumental courses and recordings.

People behind the scenes...

*Rodney Slatford OBE,
co-founder and trustee
of the Yorke Trust, double bass player and founder member of the Nash Ensemble*

RODNEY SLATFORD

Rodney Slatford is the founding Chairman of the Yorke Trust. He enjoys an unparalleled reputation as a former double bass player and teacher. Touring the world extensively as a lecture-recitalist, he gave over 1000 performances. As a founder member of the Nash Ensemble of London he played with the ensemble for thirty years, recording and broadcasting all the mainstream chamber music with them.

With the English Chamber Orchestra, as co-principal bassist for 10 years, he worked with most of the world's great soloists of the day. He recorded one of the first solo discs by a British bass player, with the Academy of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, with whom he also played principal for some years. His mission to raise standards of double bass playing led to the world's first Isle of

Rodney Slatford and co-founding trustee, the late Beth Wilson on the occasion of Rodney's OBE award Man International Double Bass Competition and Workshop in 1978 which he founded and directed.

From 1984–2001 Rodney was Head of the School of Strings at the Royal Northern College of Music in Manchester until he retired to Norfolk to devote more time to the Yorke Trust, gardening and walking his dogs.

The Yorke Trust was founded in 1984 to provide opportunities for students and children from all walks of life to study and to perform in the unpressurised atmosphere of the North Norfolk countryside, away from the competitive environment of university and school. The Trust works to the highest possible standards and as much as possible, virtually free of charge.

The Trust has a chapel in the Norfolk village of South Creake which is used as a performance venue with an adjoining house which enables young people to stay over in groups of up to thirteen people.

In 2024 Rodney is celebrating his 80th birthday with a special concert to raise funds for the Trust and its buildings see pg 57

THE HALLS COMPLEX, ST ANDREW'S PLAIN, NORWICH IS NOW CLOSED FOR APPROX 1 YEAR FROM JANUARY 2024 FOR EXTENSIVE REFURBISHMENT AND IMPROVEMENT

The Halls in Norwich, originally a 15th century friary, is one of the key venues for music, with a year-round programme of events, including regular organ recitals and concerts.

St. Andrew's Hall is the centrepiece of The Halls complex and is the name by which many people refer to the set of buildings. It has a fine, high-beamed ceiling, beautiful stained glass windows, limestone columns and a large polished maple floor. It was originally the nave of the friary and was completed in 1449. Many of the organisations in Music in Norwich programme hold their concerts in St Andrew's Hall, the largest part of the Halls complex.

The hall has been a mainstay in the Norfolk & Norwich Festival calendar since 1824, has hosted orchestras from Britten Sinfonia to the London Philharmonic Orchestra, and is the main residence for the Norwich Philharmonic Society as well as a regular venue for UEA Symphony and Chamber Orchestras and Choirs, Norwich Pops Orchestra and many others. It also hosts a regular array of performances by established jazz, brass, rock and pop acts and recently has also partnered with Norwich Arts Centre to enable bigger bands to come to Norwich.
